

Black Feminists and the Transformation of American Public Life

Monday, November 27 - 6 p.m.
Joyce Hergenan Auditorium - 140 Newhouse 3
Presentation, Reception, Book Sale

In this keynote event of the 2017-18 Syracuse Symposium series on “Belonging,” the Humanities Center gathers a trio of acclaimed black feminist scholars for a shared dialogue about collaboration, leadership, combating injustice, and creating change.

Johnnetta Betsch Cole
Beverly Guy-Sheftall
Paula J. Giddings

Event Partners:

- ◆ Council on Diversity and Inclusion
- ◆ Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs with a generous gift from University Trustee Christine Larsen ('84)

Co-Sponsors: African American Studies ◆ College of Arts and Sciences ◆ History ◆ Newhouse School of Public Communications ◆ Office of Equal Opportunity, Inclusion, and Resolution Services ◆ Office of Multicultural Affairs ◆ Political Science ◆ Public Administration and International Affairs ◆ School of Education ◆ Sociology ◆ Women's and Gender Studies

ASL interpreting provided. For other accessibility accommodation requests, contact humcenter@syr.edu by Nov. 17.

SYRACUSE SYMPOSIUM 2017-2018

Belonging

