

Humanities Research Roundtable

Friday, December 9, 2016

9:30 – 11:30 a.m.

304 Tolley Humanities Building

A range of humanities scholars, working in different disciplines, eras, and cultural contexts, discuss how they engage in archival research. Enjoy coffee and breakfast as we hear more about our colleagues' fascinating work!

Presenters:

Joan Bryant (African American Studies)

Norman Kutcher (History)

Scott Stevens (Native American Studies & English)

Patrick Williams (Digital Humanities & SU Libraries)

Sascha Scott (Art History & Native American Studies)

Stephen Parks (Writing Studies, Rhetoric, Composition)

Beth Ferri (Disability Studies)

Wayne Franits (Art History)

Mario Rios Perez (Cultural Foundations of Education)

Amanda Winkler (Music History and Cultures)

The Humanities Center cultivates research, supports interdisciplinary collaboration, and fosters public engagement with the humanities, broadly conceived.
