

AN EVENING OF SPANISH POETRY: AGUADO AND VILAS

Join us for an evening with award-winning Spanish poets Jesús Aguado and Manuel Vilas as they read from and discuss their work.

MONDAY
OCT. 2

7 P.M.
REILLEY ROOM,
446 REILLY HALL
LE MOYNE COLLEGE

Free and open to the public.

Sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Department of Communication and Film Studies, Department of English, Department of Peace and Global Studies, Office of the Dean of Arts and Sciences, and Lectures Committee at Le Moyne College; Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics at Syracuse University; and the Central New York Humanities Corridor.

Aguado is the author of El fugitivo. Poesía reunida: 1984-2010, Sueños para Ada and Carta al padre, among other works. He has lived in India and is also the author of several translations of Indian poetry: Therigata. Poemas budistas de mujeres sabias and En qué estabas pensando? Poesía devocional de la India, S. V-XIX.

Vilas writes novels, short stories, poetry and nonfiction. He won the prestigious poetry “Generación del 27” award with El hundimiento (2015). His most recent nonfiction book is América and his last novel is Lou Reed era español.

For more information,
call (315) 445-4317.

LE MOYNE
Greatness meets Goodness®

Humanities Corridor
Central New York

